An act to provide a remedy for the recovery of property by baliess when the possession has been parted with by mistake. Passed.

In the House, the Scente resolution providing for the appointment or a commission to communicate with the governors of the adjoining states and such other states as they may deem proper, upon the advisability of recommending to the respective legislatures or said states the emactment of uniform laws fixing the rate of interest for the lorn or advancement of uniform laws fixing the rate of interest for the lorn or advancement of money and the penalty, if any, for charging or taking usary, was concurred in.

Bills on second reading were then considered, among them the bill to amend the act fixing the salaries of state officers and the number and salaries of their clerks. This bill reduces them very materially and if passed finally will sive the State many thousands of dolours. In the afternoon local bills were considered and a number passed finally. The House adjoired and in Tuesday evening at 7) octock.

In Piedmont, W. Va., on Saturday norning, the front door of J. S. Jamison's dry goods store was broken through, and a safe in the private office was blown open. Fifteen hundred doilars in money, and between twenty and talify thousand doilars in registered government bonds, and several thousand dollars in persond notes were taken. Most of the notes were afterward found in a blackmath shop near the store. The safe door was blown to the opposite side of the office, and the noise aroused a constable fiving next to the store. He raised his window and one of the burglars on gand outside pointed a pistot at his head and told him to put it in again, which he did, and gave no alarm.

sidered, among them the bill to amend the act fixing the sataries of state officers and the number and salaries of their clerks. This bill reduces them very materially and if passed finally will save the State many thousands of dollars. In the afternoon local bills were could dered and a number passed finally. That House adjourned until Tuesday evening at 7) o'clock.

With the consent of the House continuing m session. This is the second time this session that this has occurred, and is a clear innovation upon the anciont parliamentary practice. The reason given is that the Senate is so much advanced in their business as to pormit this vincation. Had not the Senate driven the House Into abandoning the catendar of the first session of this localities of the first session of this localities on the session of this localities of the first session over again the most valuable time of the session was wasted. After the lapse of nearly three months but four or five bills have reached the Governor, and to add to the contision and disorder of the session the Senate violates the ancient parliamentary practice by adjourning for more than a week while the House remains The celebrated Madamo Restelle, who has made an immense fortune in Mew York by malepractice, and who was to have been tried on charges in that connection, committed suicide in her bath-room Monday morning by catting her throat with a carving knife. She was found lying in her bath tub, which was filled with water. Madame Restella left a fortune estimated at from $1.000,000 to $1.500,000.

Senate violates the ancient parliaments are practice by adjourning for more than a week while the House remains to accession. For the sake of future legislatures so had a precedent should not be permitted to stand.
